COURT ORDERS MINERS' LEADERS TO RECALL COAL STRIKE ORDER

Judge Anderson Grants Plea of Government for Permanent Injunction Against Lewis and Others.

By Telegraph to The Freeman

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 8.—Officials of the United Mine Workers of America must recall their order for a nation-wide strike of bituminous coal miners.

This was ordered here today by Judge Albert B. Anderson in federal court when he granted the plea of the government for an injunction directed against executives of the mine workers' organization in an effort to break the strike of 400,000 soft coal miners.

Judge Anderson gave the miners' officials until 6 o'clock next Tuesday evening to recall the strike order.

GOVERNMENT ASKS FOR PERMANENT INJUNCTION

Law Must Be Enforced Says Judge Ames—Miners' Request for Delay Denied.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov 8.—Mandatory injunction ordering the executive officers of the United Mine Workers to cancel the strike order which caused 400,000 bituminous coal workers to drop their tools was asked in federal court today by Judge C. B. Ames, assistant attorney general, after the court had denied the mine workers' petition for a continuance of the case for one week, to give the opposing factions an opportunity to effect an agreement The temporary restraining order issued last week has not had the effect of "undoing the wrong that has been done," declared Judge Ames

Pointing out that if the court issues the injunction it may be "disobeyed by men in some parts of the country," Judge Ames in concluding the government's argument, declared that "nothing counts so much as ascertaining if the law of this country is supreme and if it is not it is a marked indication of the decay of all the principles for which America stands"

"When any organization defies the law of the land there is no alternative; the law must be enforced. Otherwise there is American revolution." said Judge Ames, adding that he believed the American people had not reached that point and accordingly the strike is illegal and a plain violation of the food and fuel control act."

DULL BUT LUCKY.

With But One Paper in New Paltz There Can be no Arguments.

Editor Ralph LeFevre, of the New Paltz Independent, who recently merged the Times with his paper, thus moralizes in his newspaper, this week:

"We have found the political campaign, which has just closed, very dull. We miss the New Paltz Times very much. Political matters in New Paltz had been growing duller from year to year, even while there were two papers in the place. In the old days there was something doing all the time politically. In presidential years there was marching, and illuminations, and political meetings with speaking and the papers were full of politics. We enjoyed it all as the boys enjoy a game of football. Of course our side was always in the right. Even in "off years" there was great interest felt. Probably it is better for ourself as well as the place that but little interest should be felt in New Paltz concerning politics, unless an important election is soon to be held."

He also prints the following:

"There are in the Independent office a dozen roosters that used to be displayed in the columns of the New Paltz Times whenever our Democratic friends felt jubilant in the old days. Those Democratic birds would like to get out and crow."

Highland's Boom.

Highland has one important factory in its midst that now employs 135 men, not including office employees, and $5,000 is paid out weekly. Of the smaller manufactories H. J. Pratt employs thirty and pays out $200 weekly. Farnham's and Young's cider mills, each six and three men respectively are employed, pay out the sums of $100 and $52 weekly. Then there are the D. H. Starr and the M. G. Terwilliger plants, as well as the Highland Knitting Mill. The town couldn't spare any one of its manufacturing plants and should welcome more.—Highland Post.

An Educational Display.

A very interesting and educational moving picture was shown last night at Keeney's illustrating the gathering of crude rubber and carrying it through the different processes, showing also how to manufacture rubber hose and rubber belt. The picture showed the modern plant of the Diamond Rubber Company, whose product is distributed through the Hudson river valley by the Caufield Supply Company.

Some Eggs; Some Chickens!

In order to help along in the H. C. of L. fight John Denzlinger has succeeded in developing a two-in-one breed of chickens. As a starter one of his pullets laid a mammoth egg the other day and inside of this egg was another egg. Both eggs were perfectly developed with yolk and white. MRS. WYNKOOP DYING FROM BULLET WOUND

Brought From Stone Ridge To City Hospital Following Shooting In Home of Charles Young—Had Been His Housekeeper But Had Secured Similar Work In High Falls—Investigation On.

District Attorney Traver is investigating the shooting of Celia Wynkoop at Stone Ridge, who is in the City of Kingston Hospital, with a bullet wound in the left side of her head inflicted by herself or by someone else on Monday night.

Celia Wynkoop, who it is said was married three times, is about thirty years of age, the mother of two children, one about five years of age and the other about two, both children going by the name of Wynkoop. Her husband, Solomon J. Wynkoop, a farm hand, lived at Accord, and has an action of divorce against her She has for five years been acting as housekeeper for Charles Young at Stone Ridge, and about three weeks ago she met at a dance Elmer Ayers, of High Falls, whose wife is dead, he being employed on the J DePuy Hasbrouck farm and living with his son. Mrs. Wynkoop and Ayers became quite intimate. Two weeks ago she left the Young house and went to Ayer's home at High Falls to do housework for him, in the meantime going back and forth to Young's and getting various belongings. On Monday, November 3, she again went to Young's and said she was going to pack up her belongings and go to Ayer's to stay. Young says that he told her that if she did she must keep away from his house for good, and together they packed up what goods she had, as Ayers was coming that evening for her.

While she and Young were eating supper, "Old Mike" Vandemark, a neighbor, came into the house, between 6 and 7 o'clock, and while the latter was there Young went out, according to the story told leaving Van Demark and Mrs Wynkoop in the kitchen. Van Demark claims she told him that she was going to "kill" or "get rid" of herself, one or the other, but does not remember which. He said to her, "Oh, you damn fool." Young came back from the barn and he and Van Demark went out to Fred Brink's after some one-half of one per cent beer. They had the drink and started back to the house, but Young said to Van Demark that he would go to the barber's and get his hair cut, and told Van Demark to go to the house and set on the porch so if Ayers came after the Wynkoop woman he could watch if Ayers took any of Young's effects.

On the way to the barber's Young changed his mind, he says, as he concluded to look after his own interests He and Vandemark had just started to go into the house when Ayers and his son came up in a Ford automobile and they all entered the kitchen of the house at the same time, being together. There was no light in the house at the time so Young called out "Ceal," "Ceal," several times and receiving no answer went into the bedroom off the kitchen and again called "Ceal," but again received no answer. Then he knocked against something and, turning on an electric light, saw Mrs Wynkoop lying on the bed with blood over the bed and on her face, and a revolver on the bed. She had been shot on the left side of her head, over the ear.

Dr. Sherman was immediately called and gave the woman surgical attention, and she remained at the Young house until Wednesday evening when she was taken to the City of Kingston Hospital. District Attorney Traver was notified Thursday, and he started an investigation at once. Friday, William Glass of the District Attorney's office and Seth Jocelyn of the Sheriff's office went to Stone Ridge and questioned all the parties who might know anything about the woman and the incidents leading up to the shooting and the shooting itself. The investigation is being carefully continued.

Mrs. Wynkoop is right-handed, but the bullet entered the head back of the left ear and was located in the right side of the brain at the Kingston City Hospital when an X-ray picture was taken Friday. The bullet wound has also caused a complete paralysis of the right side of the body. She is not expected to live.

"Reds" Plotted Against Italy.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Paris, Nov. 8.—A "Red" plot against the throne on Italian election day and the ultimate establishment of a revolutionary government, has been discovered by the Italian police, according to a press dispatch from Rome today. The government agents at Rome, and elsewhere are said to possess evidence that great sums of money have been sent into Italy from Russia. Propaganda for a world-wide revolution was said to have been found among pamphlets seized by the police.

HARD WORK AHEAD FOR WORKERS IN CLOSING RED CROSS DRIVE

Reports Show That Less Than Half Required Memberships Have Been Secured—Mrs. Dahlman Gave Valuable Advice and Told of Work on Italian Front.

Those of the Red Cross Roll Call workers who attended the meeting at the Y. M. C. A. on Wednesday evening, were privileged to hear a talk by a Red Cross nurse who saw service at the Italian front, and who told them how to make people understand why their dollars and memberships are needed now, for future work, the war being supposedly over. Then there was considerable coaxing and urging of the workers to put more effort into the campaign if we are to be so fortunate as to raise nearly $6,000 during the few days remaining to us yet. But as usually happens in such cases, these workers who really needed to be awakened and aroused to the need of mighty strenuous and careful work these next few days were not there to hear what they should have heard, and what they will have to hear and need if we are to go over the top in this campaign as formerly.

A very nice luncheon was served by the ladies after which reports from committees were received. Miss Dahlman spoke and was followed by Captain Everett Fowler and Mayor Canfield.

The reports were as follows.

Following the reading of the reports, Mr. Mahar introduced Mrs. Dahlman, a Red Cross nurse, who had seen service in Italy and considerable other overseas work and who at present is numbered among the lecturers for the Red Cross, carrying to the people the story of the present Red Cross needs

Mrs. Dahlman had a charming personality and the information that she gave to her audience should be shared by every person in Ulster county

She said we had not yet finished our job as American people and the Red Cross had not finished its overseas job so long as we had an army of occupation in Germany. We cannot yet tell surely that none of these men now in Europe may not have to make the supreme sacrifice as have others who fell on the field of action. We owe just as much allegiance and loyalty to them as to the men who preceded them and who have either returned to us or have "gone west." Today there are between 20,000 and 30,000 of our service boys in hospitals in this country, either seriously wounded or the victims of disease contracted while fighting for their country. "They are surely just as dear to us now as they were a few months ago," said Mrs. Dahlman.

Then we still have a task to be completed on the other side, in connection with the day nurseries, orphan asylums and training schools for nurses so badly needed over there to help the war devastated sections of the countries back to living again. Furthermore, last spring, congress gave the Red Cross full charge of millions of dollars worth of supplies now overseas, and it requires men and women of wisdom and business training and judgment to properly distribute those supplies, and it costs money to have them distributed. These are some of the war fag ends which the Red Cross supported by the American people must in honor take care of.

Then the future program of the Red Cross at home is a health program which is bound to be the master program of the civilized world from now on. The Red Cross wants the people of America to show the world that we are just as anxious to save life as to destroy it; just as anxious to save human lives in our American homes as on European battlefields.

While American citizens are supposed to be born free and equal, the draft plainly showed that such was not the case, when it was found that one man out of every three men was physically unfit for service. Yet we claim, and rightly, that every one has a right to be born physically sound. Right here at home in the year 1917, 100 out of every 1,000 babies died, 20 of that 100 dying during the first week of their miserable existence, while 22 mothers out of every 100 died.

When it was learned that 1,600 women and children went down to their deaths when the Lusitania sank there was an outraged cry from the people of this land as there should have been. Yet every year 16,000 women died during pregnancy or child birth, yet these are perfectly normal functions and vital to the life of the country.

"Approximately 65,000 of our men were killed in battle or died from wounds or disease, that we and the weaker peoples of the earth might live, and we feel the loss with bitter keenness," said Mrs. Dahlman. Yet during the same 18 months that we were at war, 450,000 children under five years of age died in this country of preventable diseases, and those 450,000 "little

ENTHUSIASM AS AUXILIARY MET

On Thursday the women of the Women's Auxiliary of this district met at St. John's Church and parish house and held a morning service and afternoon session that were exceedingly helpful and enthusing, especially at this time of the Every Name Campaign.

The meeting opened with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 11:15 o'clock, followed by a forceful and compelling sermon preached by the Rev. Mr. Long of Nyack. The preacher did not tell the congregation a lot of nice, comfortable, complimentary facts which would cause them to sit back easily in their pews while he thought for them. One of his main thoughts in connection with the now accredited subject of mission was "He made all nations of one blood for to dwell upon the earth," and said that scientists had found that if a test were made from the blood of a Chinaman, an Arab or an American, it was impossible to tell the one from the other. Furthermore it is now recognized that the Christian church, better than any other organization can undertake a world wild social service work. For that reason, at the big convention in Detroit it was decided to put religious education, social service, missions, all under the supervision of what used to be the board of missions, but which as such no longer exists. The world war has changed all conditions of thinking and living and today, said the preacher, the layman is demanding his part in the doing of some of the work of Christianizing the world.

The speaker proved very conclusively that if would pay to Christianize the world, for if remaining non-Christian the world at large may well fear the yellow peril in China, Russia and Japan.

Briefly touching upon the work already accomplished by our missionaries in Alaska, Brazil, Mexico as well as in the far East, the speaker told some very unchristian facts regarding the outrageously small amounts paid to the Missionary Bishops and workers, and said that he could scarcely wait for the publication of the great survey being made for the Every Name Campaign and the Nation-Wide Campaign, for he knew that once the people of the Episcopal Church knew conditions they would be remedied. This he felt to be peculiarly true of the people of this great western hemisphere. He then told the tradition, that when Christ was crucified upon the cross his face was turned to the west, indicating that he looked to that west for the spread of his kingdom. And for the spread of that kingdom, the speaker considered three things necessary; that there must be a sowing if there would be a reaping, there must be constant intercession; there must be equally constant and real sacrifice.

The morning service was followed by a luncheon served to the members of the Auxiliary by the ladies of St. John's Church, after which the business session of the auxiliary was convened in the Parish House. Miss Ramsdell of Newburgh presided, and following the transaction of regular business, Miss Delafield, president of the auxiliary spoke very comprehensively and enthusiastically on the "New Vision of the Auxiliary." Her talk was practically a clear and interesting review of the recent Detroit convention giving special stress to the reorganization of the auxiliary along lines conforming to the readjusted plan of all missionary work of the church, including religious education, social service, etc. The Woman's Auxiliary is no longer an auxiliary to the board of missions but an auxiliary to the executive council of the church, a much more comprehensive matter, especially as the new line of work will open up opportunities of service to countless women of the church who have not before been interested in specific mission work. Miss Delafield also spoke of the awful lack of appreciation of noble service and self sacrifice as shown in the coming survey, through the terribly inadequate amounts paid to devoted workers.

Before the meeting adjourned, the Rev. Mr. Long moved a rising vote of thanks to the vestry, the rector, and women of St. John's Church for their cordial and appreciated hospitality.

Checkers Steed Pulled From Gutter With Aid of Ex-Army Horseman.

Pedestrians on Fair street were treated to an interesting incident Thursday afternoon, when a life-size model of a running horse, made of papier mache, used at the Kingston Opera House to do publicity work for the moving picture, "Checkers," did some stunts. The replica of the horse was on the sidewalk near the main entrance when some girls coming along caught hold of a rope tied to the platform on which the horse was standing. The platform which was on iron rollers, started moving and rolled toward the gutter and one of the girls endeavored to stop it moving which she was unable to do, and the result was the papier mache horse rolled to the gutter and tumbled over into the roadway. With great effort Manager George Gildersleeve, Harry Patterson and others got the platform and horse righted, but were unable to get them back into the Opera House lobby, until Peter Bayone, from the Stuyvesant barber hop, came to the rescue, and used his knowledge gained at Camp Dix as a member of the Remount Division of the U. S. army for over a year, during the war, and the inanimate steed was finally taken to a place where he could do not more stunts.

You can't make any storage battery last forever—that's a fact.

You've got to keep it filled with water and test it, just like a tire has to be kept filled with air, or it will cost you money.

Some day—if you have an ordinary battery—it's sure to have to be re-insulated, no matter who made it.

But—if you'll buy a Willard Battery with Threaded Rubber Insulation, you'll get clear away from the biggest cause of battery troubles. The insulation will probably last as long as the plates.

Drop in and ask us any question you can think of. We're here to give you the kind of help, service and advice that make friends.

Find Out About This Boiler Before You Decide

Go a little slow.

The wrong boiler is a horrible thing to have in your cellar.

It makes so many uncomfortable.

It may even provoke profanity.

One thing it certainly does do, and that is: digs into your pocket book to keep it fed up on the coal it needs.

Now, it's easy enough to claim that this Kingstonian Boiler burns less coal than any other. But to prove it, is quite another thing.

It's this very quite another thing that we want the chance to prove to you.

BROWN BELIEVES IN ADVERTISING

And in Backing it Up With Service and a Square Deal to Customers—Advertising Expert Seeks to Find Reason for Kingston Man's Success.

HARRIS BROWN.

Seven years ago there was opened in Kingston a business devoted to the sales of automobile tires, accessories, etc. Today Brown's Vulvanizing Works is one of the largest distributers of tires in the country. Slowly but surely the business has built itself up, under the guiding hand of Harris Brown, its proprietor, until it is undoubtedly one of the most widely known business of its kind in Kingston. Beginning on a side street, it now occupies a fine store on Broadway, as well as the orignal quarters, and a carload of tires is no unusual arrival at Brown's. P. L. Cornell, advertising manger of the Diamond Rubber Co., came to Kingston in conection with the production of "The Romance of Rubber" at Keeney's Theater, noticed Brown's and set out to find out how such remarkable success had been attained, hoping to obtain information and advice of use to other men in the same line of business. Mr. Cornell relates the result of his investigation as follows:

As I was anxious to know how Mr. Brown had built up his business I asked him a few questions pertaining to it which he very modestly was good enough to answer. "You know that I believe," he said, "that there are a great many retail merchants in every line who daily let the opportunity to increase their business slip by on account of their failure to conduct their business along right lines, and by right I mean along sound and conservative business foundations. One must have sufficient capital, credit, proper equipment and proper publicity and advertising." Success has come to the Brown's Vulcanizing Works only after hard application of principles which are the foundation of retail business—service, standard prices, co-operation, system and advertising.

Mr. Brown said a great deal in a single sentence. In answer to my query on advertising he said, "Yes, I certainly believe in advertising. Advertising has been defined as the 'Voice of business' and in my opinion nothing is so valuable in helping to build good will, increase sales and inspire confidence. In every way possible I link up with national campaigns of manufacturers. For instance, a Diamond Tire advertisement appears every week in Kingston and I devote some time and effort on linking up with the campaign such as newspaper advertising, window displays and mailing circular letters. I believe in handling goods of national reputation that are well advertised.

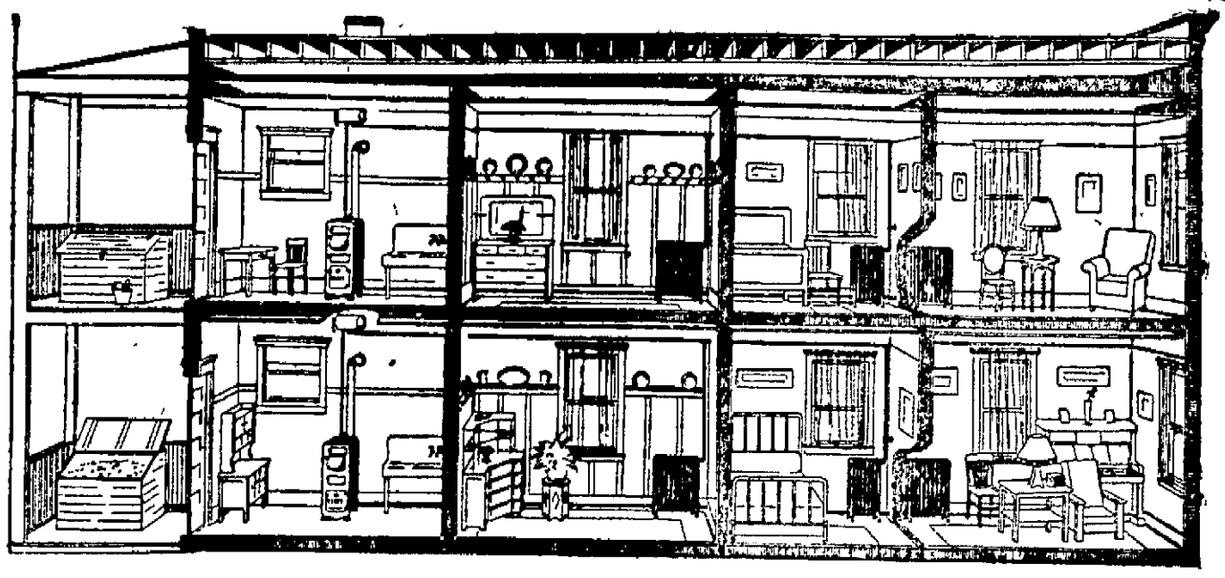
"In this period of keen competition, the merchant who realizes the value of service and who gives better service to his customers than his neighbors, is sure to reap the benefits of bigger business. Lincoln once said that 'The greatest servant of men shall be their leader.' To give real constructive service to customers has always been my aim.

"When a man is really interested in his business he can not help but develop an ever increasing enthusiasm over it—every obstacle becomes an opportunity. If you can't get over an obstable, you can always go around it. Enthusiasm to me is the motive power of business. It makes for initiative and harnesses it to action."

That concluded the interview and I went away with the impression that the Brown Vulcanizing Works' success had been well deserved and with the conviction that it has not ceased to grow, and that year after year it would continue to build surely and steadily a bigger, better business.

All-on-One-Floor Heating $107

Reduces living costs for the small home!



Where two or more families occupy a building and there is no janitor service available, this arrangement of separate heating outfits (consisting of an IDEAL-Arcola Boiler with a few AMERICAN Radiators connected thereto) offers a fine solution. Each tenant easily takes care of his simple heating outfit on his own floor without going to the cellar (if there is a cellar) to attend to the fire. Each tenant controls the heat to suit his own needs. The piping is ordinarily run out of sight between walls or under floors.

New IDEAL-Arcola Radiator-Boiler

Puts IDEAL Hot Water Heating comfort at low cost in "deckers" or flats, bungalows, stores and shops, with or without cellars

Even the $15 a month tenant would be glad to pay $1.50 a month extra for this IDEAL Hot Water Heating, as it would save the tenant investing six times that amount in a short-lived stove with its one-room "spotty" heating. Does away with the annual blacking, taking down and storing of stoves. And the $1.50 a month increased rental is good interest to the building owner and secures him a better satisfied, longer-staying tenant. The IDEAL-Arcola is therefore an investment, not an expense—as it will outwear the building itself.

Investigate at once this IDEAL Heating bargain!

Each tenant controls the exact degree of warmth his family prefers or needs—makes his own indoor climate! The IDEAL-Arcola requires no cellar. Same water is circulated over and over for many years! There is no danger to children or fire risk to building, as the iron surfaces do not get red-hot like a stove, nor can the Arcola be overturned or a leg kicked out. Stops all coal-waste—thus bringing heating costs down to lowest notch.

Greatest comfort, cleanliest heating, saves work and worry; protects family health, saves doctor bills and repair bills. The coal-saving soon repays original cost. Put quickly into OLD or new buildings. Phone your local dealer today.

Catalog showing open views of houses, individual flats, stores, offices, etc., with the IDEAL-Arcola Boiler in position will be mailed (free). Write today

THE MOVIES

It is estimated that fifteen million Americans enter the motion picture houses every day The sociological importance of this fact is manifest and inevitably there is much discussion of the "movies," their influence for good or ill. Even if the picture drama were beyond criticism, "high-brow" artists, whether dramatic or musical, would inevitably pronounce film plays as more or less of a nuisance, injurious to the public taste Such artists are naturally inclined to do this because fifteen million people in the movies daily inevitably involve smaller audiences than formerly for the speaking and the lyric drama. Some reformers, agreeing with the high-brow artist and the movies appeal to a low taste, also hold that they are injurious to public morals, but this is true only in particular instances, and these as a rule the censors rectify.

It is true that motion picture dramas do not appeal to the highest artistic taste, but they are welcome to the millions who do not read classic literature and are not reached by art in its most elevated forms. They furnish almost the only form of dramatic entertainment within reach of the millions and thus they perform a great service by bringing recreation and forgetfulness into lives otherwise too monotonously prosaic. It is reasonably safe to add that, on the moral side, the picture drama is quite as wholesome as the speaking drama, rarely containing anything likely to be injurious in effect. On the whole the moral tone is quite up to the general level of that of published fiction.

CONSERVATISM OF FARMERS.

The impression that farmers had joined in labor's demand for more pay for less work with less production seems to have resulted from a few individual utterances only. The proposal of a farmers' "strike" for shorter hours through acreage reduction could not have been widely representative, for the Farmers' National Congress has protested against the radical program of industrial agitators, and gatherings of agriculturists throughout the country have shown a similar attitude, even in sections where "populism" was once firmly rooted. A typical farmers' view may be seen in the following resolution passed by the State Agricultural Association of Indiana, which was adopted in practically the same language by a similar body of Illinois farmers a few days later: "We condemn strike methods and demands for shorter hours which reduce production and increase the price of living and recommend a basic ten hour day for all productive industries in order that farm labor may be on a par with other forms of labor."

The typical farmer has every reason to be opposed to Bolshevik radicalism. Though he works with his hands and is a laborer in the most literal sense, he is also a proprietor—a capitalist, if you please—and an employer of labor. As a consumer, he naturally favors reasonable prices for commodities in general, as a seller of products he as inevitably deplores industrial disturbance affecting the prosperity of the market, and as an employer he is out of sympathy with abnormally high wages and unnecessary shortened hours. The agriculturists, who form nearly a third of our population, are and have need to be loyal to established institutions, are and have need to be a conservative force in the country.

The men school teachers and principals in New York city, have voted unanimously to petition the board of education for permission to volunteer for service in the coal mines during the strike. While this shows a fine spirit of devotion to the public welfare, it is also a reminder that school teachers are not well paid, that vacation leaves them tired out, and that they are always glad to welcome chance of some.

Whaling on a great scale is by no means a thing of the past. The Seattle fleet of whaling schooners, after months of the chase, has returned to port with the great record of 419 whales, 100 more than the same fleet's catch of last season. One of the captured leviathans of the deep measured 87 feet in length.

The Pittsburgh lawyer retained by the I. W. W. no doubt truly represents the spirit of that organization when he frankly admits that he is against God, the churches and the government and wants to see an end of the last named.

SMITH DISMISSES CURTIS CHARGES

District Attorney of Greene Absolved From Charges of Incompetency and Favoritism When Governor Acts on Fitzsimmons Report.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 8.—(Special)—Governor Alfred E Smith today signed an order dismissing the charges against Harrie McKay Curtis, district attorney of Greene county. The order was signed upon the findings and recommendation of William E. Fitzsimmons, commissioner appointed by the governor to hear the charges.

In the early part of June last, charges were filed with the governor by Frank J. Collier against Harrie McKay Curtis, district attorney of Greene county, charging him with favoritism, vindictiveness, inefficiency and incompetency. A copy of these charges was in due course served upon the district attorney, and he filed an answer to the same, and his answer was substantially a denial of the charges, and thereupon Mr. Fitzsimmons was appointed a commissioner to hear the charges.

There were a number of hearings and a number of witnesses were sworn on both sides and the commissioner filed his report, in which report he found that the charges were not sustained and recommended their dismissal.

The first charge consisted of allegations of misconduct on the part of the district attorney in the case of The People vs George Sagar and Osmer Hollister. Hollister was indicted for the crime of rape in the second degree and was convicted and sentence suspended. The district attorney was charged with being instrumental in procuring the suspended sentence. It appeared from the testimony of Justice Hasbrouck, who sentenced Hollister, that he, the justice, was alone responsible for the suspension of the sentence, and not the district attorney The defendant Sagar was not indicted and it was claimed that this was due to the fact that the district attorney did not present the proper evidence before the grand jury The commissioner found that the record disclosed that all the evidence was submitted to the grand jury and that the district attorney was in no way responsible for the failure of the grand jury to indict.

The second charge was in connection with what was known as the "Renner Case," a gambling case, in which it was charged that the District Attorney failed to present the proper evidence to the grand jury. The Commissioner found that the gambling was in the use of a device in connection with what was known as a turkey raffle and that all the evidence was presented and that the grand jury failed to indict, through no fault of the District Attorney.

The third charge in the complaint was in reference to the shooting of one Michael Lackey, and the District Attorney was charged with failing to apprehend the person who did the shooting. The Commissioner found that the evidence failed entirely to sustain this charge and that the District Attorney had done all in his power to discover the person who did the shooting.

The fourth charge was that Reverend G. Fa Snyder and Cyrus Showers had become so disgusted with the inefficient and incompetent manner in which the District Attorey conducted his office that charges were filed by them before Governor Whitman and that Governor Whitman reprimanded the District Attorney. The Commissioner found that there was no evidence that Governor Whitman did anything beyond receiving a petition alleging misconduct.

The fifth charge was in reference to the matter of one Fred Braunlich, accused of larceny, and charged that the District Attorney withheld important and material evidence from the grand jury, with the result that the grand jury failed to indict. The Commissioner found that this charge was not sustained.

The last charge was a charge that the District Attorney had failed to perform his duty in the case of ex-Supervisor Dayton B. Smith, of the Town of Coxsackie, who, it was claimed, had misappropriated some funds of the town. The Commissioner found that the District Attorney presented to the grand jury sufficient evidence upon which it might have found an indictment, and his failure to so indict was not the fault of the District Attorney—that he was not responsible for the failure of the grand jury to indict. It was also disclosed that a civil action was pending, brought by the Attorney General of the State of New York, against ex-Supervisor Smith to recover the moneys alleged to have been misappropriated.

The Commissioner found that the District Attorney frankly explained every transaction inquired about Man vs. Shellfish.

If a human being possessed strength as great in proportion to his size as that of the shellfish the average man would be able to lift the enormous weight of 2,000,000 pounds by pulling in the same degree as a limpet. And if the man pulled in the same degree as the oyster he would exhibit a weight of no less than 3,000,000 pounds.

Ellenville, Nov. 6.—The Ellenville Musical Club has recently come into possession of a unique old-fashioned music stand which was the property of Prof. Reuben Munson, father of the late E H. Munson. Prof. Munson came to this section and resided at Greenfield, N. Y., about the time of the Civil War and later with his family resided on Main street, Ellenville, until his death. Mr. Munson had previously played in New York at Castle Garden and it was here, it is said, he accompanied Jennie Lind, the famous Swedish "nightingale." The music stand acquired by the Musical Club and placed in Hunt Memorial Hall has an interesting musical association in connection with the family, who for many years were active in the musical life of Ellenville.

The departure of Mr. and Mrs. Albert V. Porter from Ellenville in deeply regretted by a large circle of friends. They will make their home at Passaic, N. J. Mr. Porter, who through loss of eyesight was compelled to retire from active life as local photographer, spent his entire life in the village except a few years spent in Connecticut attending school. He is a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jonathan Porter, who resided at the time of their death, after rounding up a long life, with his son. In early life he became a member of the M. E. church and was always active along all lines of church work, especially the work of Sunday school, of which 41 years of his life he was a teacher. From one class alone five members entered the ministry. In the late war twelve former members of his classes were engaged in war service and two members paid the supreme sacrifice. For several years it was said Mr. Porter did not miss one Sunday from the school. He was local acting secretary of the Y. M. C. A. headquarters in New York and always found time when young men were leaving the home town to interest himself in their welfare, and a letter would go to the Y. M. C. A. secretary introducing them to the association. One young man of whom he was especially interested, was the late Rev. John Weissermer, who was the builder and secretary of the Y. M. C. A. at Binghamton, when he died. Mr. Porter was superintendent for several years of the floral department of the Ulster County Agricultural Society and always active. Mr. Porter was united in marriage with Miss Jessie Hanmore of Phillipsport, N. Y., and with his bride set up housekeeping in the village, where they have always been well and favorably known. To this union were born three daughters Miss Sadie M. Porter, for some years engaged at photography work at Waterbury, Conn., Kingston, N. Y., and at present in New York city; the other daughter, Helen, the wife of William Matthews of Passaic, N. J., with whom Mr. and Mrs. Porter for the present will reside. The third daughter died. Mr. Porter went Wednesday and Mrs. Porter will spend a few days with her twin sister, Mrs. Edgar S. Terwilliger, on Center street, before going to join her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Matthews at Passaic.

The class of 1920, local high school, is to give a minstrel show at the Auditorium Friday and Saturday evenings. Very clever performers are to take part which assures a great success for the class.

Another land mark of the village has passed on. The blacksmith and wagon maker shop, for so many years owned and run by the late John Cox, one of Ellenville's foremost citizens, and later owned by the late Eli Van Aken, who also owned a handsome residence on Center street, and then on until now owned by another party, has been torn down and on the site is to be erected a concrete garage to cover the entire lot.

The Red Cross drive, under the very able chairman, Frank B. Hornbeck, of the town of Wawarsing, and his corps of efficient assistants is going forward this week and hopes are entertained that the large membership gained last year will be supplemented this year and several new members added.

LUTHERAN Y. M. B. TO REORGANIZE

On Thursday evening of next week a meeting of the young men of the Lutheran Church of the Redeemer will be held in the Bible school rooms of the church for the purpose of reorganizing the Young Men's Brotherhood. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock and it is desired that all members of the Brotherhood and all young men of the Lutheran faith between the ages of 16 and 30 years be in attendance.

The Brotherhood was organized over ten years ago with but a handful of young men. In the course of a few years it grew to be one of the largest, strongest and most active church organizations in the city. Approximately 80 per cent of its members were in the service in the world's war. Because of this heavy toll on the membership it was decided last year to suspend meetings and other activities during the period of the war. Now that the war is over and the boys have returned, many are anxious to get back to the spirit prevalent in pre-war days.

At the meeting Thursday night it is expected that some action will be taken toward holding a reunion in the near future. It is also desired to obtain a complete honor roll of the service men. All members who held office at the time meetings were suspended are requested to bring all books and supplies pertaining to their respective offices with them Thursday night.

NEW WORLD MOVEMENT

Of United Presbyterian Church to Conduct Canvass.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 8.—A house to house canvass of every United Presbyterian family in America will be conducted November 9 by New World Movement campaigners in their efforts to enroll 45,000 families in the Family Altar League as part of their movement to revitalize religion in the home.

Special sermons will be preached by all pastors on the subject and in every congregation a committee of six will conduct the campaign for members of the Altar League. A survey is being made of the church membership to learn in how many homes religious services are being held.

Business men are being enlisted in the campaign to prove by personal example that home services are feasible in the modern home. A symposium by ten of the leading business men in the church membership is being distributed as an argument that successful merchants, bankers and financiers still find time for prayer and reading of the Bible in their home.

The campaign is being directed by Dr. J. Knox Montgomery, president of Muskingum College, who has established offices in Pittsburgh, Pa., as secretary of the department of spiritual life of the New World Movement.

RIFTON.

Rifton, Nov. 6.—For the best interests of the village and community and the incoming population, there should be held regular Sunday services and Sunday school in the M. E. Church.

Judge Daniel C. Relyea has purchased of Admiral F. J. Higginson of Kingston his 2:10 roadster and now the judge is ready to meet any of the owners of fast horses either here or from Kingston. Judge Brinnier take notice.

William Slater, it is said, has purchased the Judge Stephan farm just above the village and took possession on November 1. The judge spent considerable money in improving the property after his purchase. A large new up-to-date barn wa serected and the house entirely renovated and remodelled throughout.

It is reported that the Cedar Glen house, owned by William Slater, has been sold.

Fred Relyea has sold his residence and poultry plant to New York parties who will take possession April 1, 1920.

Rev. Henry Smith is booked for three addresses next Sunday in the interests of the county religious survey and Sunday school rallies.

All who care to take boarders may now be able to fill their houses. Mrs. H. G. Osterhoudt has already filled her rooms with engineers who are employed upon the construction work of the reservoir.

Mrs. Max Friedman, who has been seriously ill for several weeks past is gradually improving.

Adolph Schmidt has rented the Davidson farm and will open the house as a summer boarding house.

Just now and for some time to come labor is and will be in great demand here.

Mrs. H. G. Osterhoudt, Mrs. Anna Smith and Miss Anna Devine are soliciting for the Red Cross drive now on.

The moon was peeping from behind a silvery cloud, as the sun had gone to rest
And the wind sighed and groaned like a mad-man in distress.

But a happy band of farmerettes that blustry night did roam;
And wandered at last to the Elmendorf home
While "Mel" in his bed did sweetly sleep.
Not having heard the tread of many feet.

Annie, calm and serene in her dear old kitchen sat.
When Ella with her Ukulele at the door did rap.
Hattie she yelled out: "Surprise! Surprise!"
Which nearly caused poor Oscar to capsize.

As the troops entered from the street
They carried something good to eat;
Games were entered with many a jest
Each one tried to out do the rest.

Marion was very fond of playing "Pit."
While Ethel had no place to sit.
When Robbie like a Tom cat cried
Alberta looked at him cross-eyed.

Laura, "cheater of the cheats,"
While Ina with her "ten spot" beats.
Roscoe hid both loud and wild
Dorothy looked on and smiled.

Jesse he just raved the more
When Eva handed him the score.
Mabel warbled for the crowd
While Ruth yelled "Four" right out loud.

The hours rolled by, it was time to eat,
Without that—the evening would not be complete.
"Doctor" who was a waiter born—
Then some
For he never wasted a single crumb.

Even Cupid played a part
And sent his arrow through a heart
So when Martha decides which one
To Day for a license she will come.

"Louie's "store excuse" was rather lame
Viola "had to go home" before "Irv." came.
When, "Good night" had been shouted
And we were on our homeward way.
The farmerettes all decided,
It was the end of a "Perfect Day."

AT THE THEATRES.

Evelyn Nesbit at Keeney's—Checkers Ends Run Today.

It was not a fake marriage proposal that lured innocent Bettina and her elder sister, but an equally infamous ruse. Their tragic story is the theme of a great sociological photoplay, in which Evelyn Nesbit is starring. It is entitled, "My Little Sister," and may be seen at the Keeney theatre tonight. Also International News and a Keystone Comedy. Monday, Lila Lee in "Heart of Youth."

"Checkers" is about to leave us. The last performance of the mammoth William Fox racing photoplay, which has been drawing capacity audiences to the Opera House will be given today.

A day of real fun, splendid songs and a fascinating chorus that can sing and dance is anticipated with the announcement that Harry Bulger, the famous comedian in Mort Singer's sensational musical comedy success, "The Flirting Princess," will be seen at the Opera House, Tuesday, matinee and night. Seats on sale today.

What do you think would be your sensation if you were perched at the top of a 150-foot tree and found it falling? That is one of the situations that William Duncan (Dick Daring) find himself in during the second episode of Vitagraph's latest adventure serial, "Smashing Barriers," which will be shown at the Auditorium tonight.

All next week the Bates Musical Comedy Company of 22 people, mostly girls, featuring Bart Crawford, the topline comedian as "Rastus," will be at the Orpheum Theatre, this city. There are a number of high class vaudeville acts in the entertainments and the very latest song hits will be sung by the principals and beauty chorus. Tonight's picture feature will be May Allison in "Almost Married," and Pete Morrison will be seen in a western drama. Besides there will be three vaudeville acts all for 20 to 25 cents with no war tax.

PAIGE

The Most Beautiful Car in America

Very shortly a new Paige plant will be in operation and our production schedule will be doubled. For the first time, then, we shall be in position to keep step with the demand for our cars.

The American public has dictated this expansion. Their wholehearted endorsement of the Paige—the product and the policy of its makers—is the cause of this extraordinary growth. It is the result of their acceptance of the Paige as a "preferred investment."

BURGEVIN GIVES PRIZES.

Three Employes Rewarded For Fine Chrysanthemums They Grew.

Each year Burgevin, Inc., florists on Pearl street, award three prizes to employes at their greenhouses who grow the finest chrysanthemums. Each are given three plants, one of white flower, one pink and one yellow of the same variety, and there has been for several years much good natured rivalry among those contesting as to who will win the first prize. The prize winners this year are Charles Weber, first; Fred Aucock, second; Nick Pfeifer, third. The latter has won the first prize on more than one occasion, but the score of florists employed at the dozen or more conservatories of Burgevin, Inc., give as a reason for his getting only the third prize this year that he had been giving too much attention to the raising of the fine baby boy that blessed his home a few months ago. The prizes are $25, first; $20 second; and $10 third. The prize winning plants with their blooms of very large chrysanthemums are on display at the sales room of Burgevin, Inc., Main and Fair streets, and are a floral show worth going to see.

A NOVEL RECIPE

Which Will Result in Fewer Little White Caskets.

Here is a recipe never seen in a cook book:

Take one under nourished child; add warm wraps; mix with hot milk and real butter; keep in the open air; and the child will serve.

If that recipe is followed, there'll be fewer white hearses in the city streets.

It means death to tuberculosis, instead of death by tuberculosis.

A constant, winning fight is being waged against the disease in this city.

Red Cross Christmas seals provide the funds for the battle.

The seals will be on sale from December 1 to December 10.

Card of Thanks.

I wish to thank my friends, both Democrat and Republican, for their loyal support given me on Tuesday last, election day, and as their representative for the ensuing term of 1920-21 I will serve them in the same clean manner as I have done in the past.

Get Rid of Your Gas Grouch for Good

Don't have a grudge against the Gas man. It's not his fault that you persist in squandering precious fuel. He can't help it. But you can, however. Here's how—simply equip that car of yours with a New Stromberg Carburetor.

That's all. Right away mileage begins to multiply. Costs fall off. You go farther on fewer gallons of fuel. Your engine loses its gas greed. Then when you do wheel up to a supply station it's with a feeling of satisfaction that you have had the longest possible run for your money. There is no ground for grievance.

Now listen brother—don't say—"that might work on some cars—but mine, well I don't know."

Your car is no exception. Its exact duplicate—by the scores are Stromberg equipped—and are giving more mileage by many miles, than you are getting.

The New Stromberg holds official economy records on virtually every make of machine.

On any car, of any year, of any size it invariably effects greater gas economy. Not only that—it actually gives better acceleration—more power and more speed. Makes a better car of the best of them.

Come in and let us show you just why and just how the New Stromberg puts a crimp in fuel consumption. Put a new Stromberg on your car. Put it to a ten day test. See the savings. Figure the economy. Get the facts. Then if you are not satisfied—we will take it back and hand back purchase price without a question.

NEW YORK STRIKES IN OCTOBER

Caused Reduction in State's Factory Output—Clothing Workers' Employment Continues to Increase.

Telegraph to The Freeman.

Albany, Nov. 8.—Strikes in October were of such volume as to cause appreciable reduction in the total number of factory workers employed. October reports from 1450 manufacturers of New York state to the bureau of statistics of the state industrial commission show a reduction of 2 per cent from September in the number of employes. Excluding from the tabulation reports that were affected by strikes started during the time between the September and October reports, an increase of two per cent in the total number of factory workers is indicated, and nearly all decreases of consequence in the various branches of manufacturing disappear.

The largest reductions were in iron and steel production, steel shipbuilding, musical instruments, printing, women's hats and canning—the industries which were seriously affected by labor troubles in every case with the exception of canning where the decrease is seasonal. Other industries affected to a minor degree by strikes in October are jewelry, machinery, automobiles and laundering.

Disregarding firms affected by strikes, gains in employment appear in stone, clay and glass products, metal products, wood products, leather, rubber goods, paper goods and printing, textiles and clothing and in water, light and power plants.

In the metal industries, marked gains appear in the manufacture of heating apparatus and machinery, and minor gains in jewelry and silverware, brass and copper goods, sheet metal work, automobiles and airplanes and typewriters and other instruments.

Several thousand workers on strike in the piano industry of New York city had material affect on the total employed in the wood manufacturing industries. Other divisions, however, employed more workers in October than in September, especially furniture and cabinet work.

The number of clothing workers employed continues to increase. About 5 per cent more workers were employed in men's clothing and men's furnishings. In the latter, a general increase appears in up-state firms, and labor troubles in some New York city firms were settled in October.

Substantial gains in employment in October were reported in various branches of the textile industries. Cotton goods and knit goods manufacturing show an increase in number of workers chiefly the result of larger working forces in Utica mills where strikes were reported in September. Production of woolen goods, especially carpets and rugs, and miscellaneous textiles shows a gain in October.

In food products as a whole no change of consequence appears in October. Decreases were reported in canning, milling and cereal production and in sugar refining. The drop in sugar refining was due to the shortage of raw sugar which was made more acute by the strike of longshoremen in New York city. Some candy manufacturers reported a drop in number of employes while others reported a considerable increase. Grape juice production caused an increase in the beverages division but brewing work showed no change in October.

In the stone, clay and glass products industries the increase appears chiefly in the production of abrasives, cement and glass. Brick manufacture shows a slight decrease in October.

WAKN DRIVER BY DANGER SIGNAL

Many Evils May Result From Driving Car With Emergency Brake Engaged.

PLAN TO PREVENT ACCIDENT

Device of Florida Man Can Be Applied to Any "Shift Gear" Type of Car —Essential Element Is Contact Spring on Levers.

Burned out brake-bands, broken crank-shafts, and enormous fuel consumption are only a few of the many evils that may result from driving a car with the emergency brake locked in position.

After a friend had told him he had unwittingly driven over twenty-five miles under such conditions, L. B. Robbins, a Florida inventor, set about to devise a means of preventing just such occurrences. The idea can be applied to any "shift gear" type of car, and calls for only the simplest materials.

Contact Spring Essential.

The essential element is a contact spring applied to each lever, that is, the emergency-brake and gear-shift lever, just far enough above the floor of the car to allow easy shifting.

The spring is a strip of tempered brass, bent as shown, one end being fitted with a screw terminal. This can be found on an old dry-cell. A short length of rubber garden hose is slit down its length and slipped over the lever, functions as insulator and to keep the two metals apart. The spring is clamped to the hose with a pair of common hose clamps. The two terminals are then connected by a coiled piece of ordinary bell wire as shown in the illustration.

Set Emergency Brake.

Attach a metal contact strip to the floor board immediately behind each lever, so that, when the gears are in "high" and the emergency brake is set, there will be contact between the spring strip on each lever and the metal directly behind it.

Wire these two floor strips to a light or bell, as preferred, which is placed on the dash, and insert one cell of the battery in the circuit.—Popular Science Monthly.

WHEN HOOD HANDLES RATTLE

Noise Made Is Most Annoying and Can Be Cured by Occasional Tightening of Screws.

The handles fastened on the hood to permit of raising and lowering the part are apt to get loose and rattle after the car has seen considerable service especially if they are attached with screws. The noise they make is most annoying, and the only cure is an occasional tightening of the screws.

CAR FEE SYSTEM IS QUITE COMPLICATED

Amount Collected for Various Vehicles Is Not Uniform.

Confusion Caused by Widely Varying Requirements for Registration or Licensing of Chauffeurs, Owners and Dealers.

The amount of fees collected per car for either pleasure or commercial vehicles is as yet far from uniform and is still further complicated by the widely varying requirements for the registration or licensing of chauffeurs, owners, operators, dealers, etc. Thus, if the total gross registration and license revenues be used as a basis of revenue, and the total automobile trucks and vehicles as a basis for motorcars, it is found that for the entire United States the average fee per car was $8.37. On the same basis the state of New Hampshire received in 1918 a gross revenue of $20.52 for each motorcar, while Minnesota received only about $1.75 annually for each car, as the registration in that state is for a three-year period.

In most states motorcars are taxed as personal property in addition to the required registration fees. In Delaware, Idaho, Iowa, Michigan, New York, North Dakota, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Pennsylvania and Vermont registration fees are in lieu of all other taxes. Therefore, in making any comparisons in fees as between the several states, this fact should be borne in mind.

ELIMINATING BODY SQUEAKS

Thick Leather Straps or Washers, Held in Position by Bolts, Will Stop Noise.

Motorcar frames are not at all rigid under the distorting influences of an irregular road surface, whereas the body work is very much less free to bend and give. This gives rise to slight rubbing at various places where the frame is in contact with the body sills, and since these points of free contact are not lubricated squeaks result. The remedy is to insulate the body from the frame with thick leather straps or washers, so placed as to be held in position by the bolts securing the two. In like manner the filler board used with some types of windshield to make it conform with the outline of the car dash can be prevented from squeaking by the insertion of a strip of leather or felt.

When using the self-starter be sure that the spark is retarded, as a backkick may wreck the mechanism.

The usually recommended substance for putting out gasoline fires is sand, which certainly has many advantages.

The fabric is the life of a tire. Small cuts in the rubber let sand in which soon loosens the rubber from the fabric, and the water which enters, rots it.

A leading American automobile manufacturer has found it advantageous to install a compressed air device for driving wood screws and machine screws and nuts.

The body of the car should be cleaned with castile soap and water. Mud should not be rubbed off, but rather should be washed off by flowing a gentle stream of water over the spot.

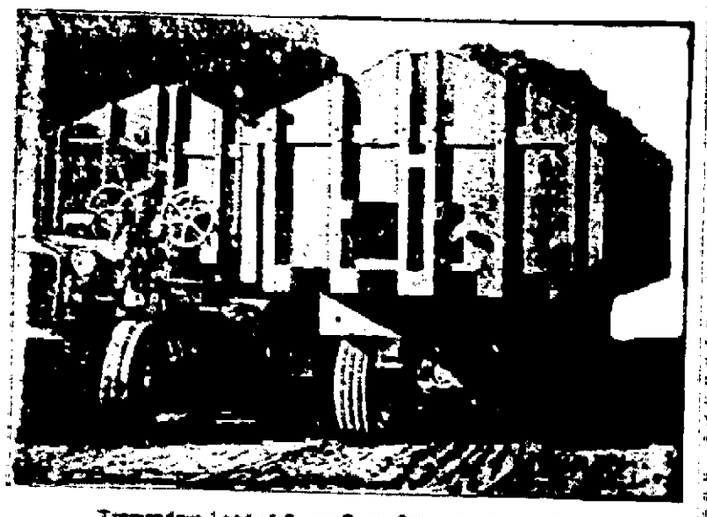
The small rods which are part of the ordinary pocket lamp battery can be filed and trimmed down to make a very acceptable temporary replacement for worn-out carbon brushes in the magneto.

WORLD'S LARGEST TRAILERS USEFUL IN TRANSPORTING SUGAR BEETS TO MILLS



Tremendous Load of Sugar Beets Being Hauled to Mills.

It is trailers of the type shown in the illustration, the largest in the world, that are used daily for the transportation of overflowing loads of sugar beets from the fields near Soledad, Cal., to the sugar mills, in spite of the excessive loads carried by the trailers, loading and unloading is extremely simple. The rear wheels are equipped with solid tires.

Tested 250,000 Miles Three-Point Cantilever Springs Greatest Improvement Since Pneumatic Tires

OVERLAND 4 has been put through the most thorough and severe test possible.

250,000 miles of mountain trails, desert sand, heat, cold, mud and dust, demonstrated the quality of every part of the car long before we began manufacturing.

This remarkable test showed conclusively that Three-Point Cantilever Springs, exclusive with Overland, are the greatest improvement in riding comfort since the introduction of pneumatic tires.

They protect the car from road shocks and prolong the life of every part.

They enable the wheels to hold better to the road. They give greater comfort under all road conditions.

They do away almost entirely with side sway and rebound which twist and rack the car.

Diagonal attachment of the Three-Point Springs at both ends of a 130-inch Springbase gives the steadiness and smooth riding of the heavy car of long wheelbase.

Equipment is complete from Auto-Lite Starting and Lighting System to Marshall Divan Spring Upholstery.

James L. Kelder of High Falls was in this place on Saturday.

Dr. C. P. Hutchings, who has been spending the past three weeks at Cricket Hill Farm, left for Boston on Sunday, where he has the offer of a very lucrative position with a large publishing concern.

Mrs. William Pine, who has been in poor health lately, is improving slowly, which is encouraging news to her many friends in this place.

If the party who removed the rear license number off the auto of Arthur H. Depuy at Accord on election night, will return same, they will receive more thanks than they did for removing it, which is a cowardly act, and may get some people in trouble, for the auto law requires both front and rear license numbers.

The many friends of Mrs. I. J. Favor will be glad to hear of her recovery after a very successful operation performed by Dr. C. P. Hutchings, formerly of High Falls.

Mrs. Millicent Wines is spending some time with Mrs. I. P. Favor at this place.

Mrs. Cyrus Depuy of Accord and Mrs. John L. Depuy of this place spent the past Wednesday in Kingston and visited Mrs. Lester O. Depuy, who is recovering nicely from a recent operation at the Kingston City Hospital.

RED CROSS HELPS IN INSTANCES OF STRESS AND NEED

The Romance of Home Service Is Seen in the Desert of Damascus as Well as in America

The dependents of America's fighting men are being cared for wherever they may be and whatever may be the difficulties of reaching them. In this task American Red Cross Home Service has been of far-flung usefulness, the record established by it proving so gratifying that Home Service, which has been confined to assistance of the families of soldiers and sailors, is now being expanded to be of general usefulness to the people.

One of the purposes of the Third Roll Call for members, November 2 to 11, is to enable the Red Cross to carry out an enlarged program of Home Service throughout the United States.

The helping hand of Home Service is strikingly portrayed in scores of incidents reported to Red Cross headquarters. Wherever the families of American fighters were, Red Cross Home Service workers have found them, even in the mountain fastnesses or deserts of distant countries, helping them communicate with their loved ones and particularly seeing to it that funds allotted to them by their boys actually reached them. In innumerable instances, too, returned doughboys have turned to Home Service to help them in a wide variety of problems. Whatever the help required, Home Service men and women, of whom there are thousands especially trained for the work, have found a way to help, often under picturesque, even romantic, circumstances.

By Camel Across the Desert.

There was a lonely Syrian mother living four days by camel across the desert from Damascus. Her son, George Hamway, having emigrated to America, responded to the call to the colors in 1917 and fell fighting in the Argonne, leaving only a vague address of his mother. It was found when the War Risk Insurance Bureau undertook to begin payments to her on his $5,000 insurance.

In the uncertainty developing, the matter was placed in the hands of the American Red Cross Mission to Palestine as a routine Home Service case. Long searching located the aged mother, and she was brought to Damascus by camel, accompanied by witnesses, Bedouins in full gala attire of the desert. After much palaver the identity of the woman was fully established and certification awarded to Washington, the old lady returning to her lowly home to await the remittances that will ease her remaining days.

Antonio and Angela del Ruppo were fairly well-to-do folks with a little farm in Treviso, about three miles from the Piave. When the war came to that part of Italy they were driven out of their home into A... ...ory as prisoners, while their little farm became a battlefield. They were held as farm laborers in Austria, knowing nothing of the real prog... ...fighting. They never heard that the United States had entered the war and that their son in that country, Antonio, had enlisted and was fighting for them in France.

Antonio, meantime, had for months been making frantic efforts to learn what had become of his father and mother. Red Cross Home Service workers in Italy conducted an investigation, and a few weeks ago were able to send word to Antonio, who survived the fighting, ...had been found, ... released from captivity in Austria, and that the Red Cross would assist them until his allotment money could reach Italy.

In the rush of getti... ... American soldiers home from France the doughboy didn't have much time to wind up his affairs there. Not long ago Home Service received from a demobilized soldier in this country a letter and affidavit showing he had 5,000 francs on deposit in France and asking the ... Cross to g... ... him. All the soldier had remembered was the name of the town, the name of the bank he had forgotten and his bank book had been lost in action.

By the process of elimination Home Service workers located the bank and the deposit, the bank officials accepting the word of the Red Cross that it had authority to collect the little fortune, and they turned it over to be forwarded to the former soldier.

But the romance of Home Service has not been confined to work that carried its representatives to remote spots in the Old World. Here in the United States Home Service emergency cases called Red Cross workers to many out-of-the-way places on errands varied and sometimes romantic.

Home Service is substantial neighborliness without unwanted intrusion, providing those who otherwise could not have its assistance in meeting the many problems confronting families whose head or supporting son is called from them.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Nothing like a wayward bit of Mother Earth to grip the human heart, nothing like a wild weed patch! It is a magnet, swinging us all around into line like iron filings. It isn't a run-down condition that makes most of us take a vacation, it's the call of a wild weed patch.

OUT OF THE ORDINARY CHICKEN DISHES.

One tires of the usual and ordinary and longs for some new way to present the familiar.

French cooks are masters of the art of surprising with the familiar, yet one does not always wish a dish to be entirely lost in seasonings. Some of the following dishes may seem extravagant, but no scrap of meat or bit of bone need be wasted, as there is stock, salad, timbales and canapes which may be made from small bits:

Chicken a la Marengo.—This dish is said to have been originated for Napoleon after the battle of Marengo. Singe and clean a five-pound chicken and cut it up for fricassee. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in a saucepan and add three tablespoonfuls of the best olive oil. When it is hot add the dark meat of the chicken and cook five minutes. Then add the white meat with salt and pepper and a bit of garlic. Mix and stir over a good fire and cook 20 minutes, until each piece is a golden brown. Have ready a tomato sauce, made from one can of tomatoes a bit each of onion, carrot, parsley, cooked thick and rubbed through a sieve; add one-half pound of fresh mushrooms and the chicken. Cook the mushrooms in fat five minutes. Arrange the chicken on a platter; add to the gravy in the pan three tablespoonfuls of the tomato puree, stir until it is hot; pour over the chicken and serve.

Chicken Baked in Milk.—Melt one-fourth of a cupful of butter, add one large onion thinly sliced; cut two young chickens in pieces for serving, cover and cook slowly, turning often, for ten minutes, then add one cupful of chicken stock and cook until the chicken is tender. Remove the chicken, put stock and onion through a sieve and add one and one-half tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour creamed together. Season with salt and pepper. Arrange the chicken on a serving dish, pour the sauce around it and garnish with sliced bananas cut in diagonal slices, dipped in flour and sauted in butter.

Ex-soldier begging in Berlin.

That the recent demonstrations in Berlin by returned soldiers were justified is partly proven by the above photograph. This picture, taken recently in Berlin, shows a discharged German soldier still suffering from a wound received in action, actually begging on the streets. The soldier demonstrations were in protest against the Government's failure to provide work for them.

HARD WORK AHEAD FOR RED CROSS DRIVE WORKERS

white crosses," cry out to us to carry on the work of making a better and safer world for which the other 45,000 "little white crosses" were erected on the other side. In other words, Mrs. Dahlman showed that it was ten times more dangerous to be a baby than a soldier, an intolerable condition in any civilized country.

The Red Cross is now undertaking and will carry on a great nation-wide health program to reach into every smallest village and hamlet, led by competent physicians and nurses and trained workers in order that these awful and unnecessary conditions of the past may be changed or done away with entirely. The draft showed just as many young men from the country districts physically unfit, as in the cities, probably due in large measure to the fact that they had not had the necessary medical attention and preventive care when children, again due to the fact that often there is only one competent physician for three or four communities, a serious situation.

Mrs. Dahlman was sure that if the people fully realized what the Red Cross is planning to do it would gladly give of its money and time to assist in the work. She made it very plain that 50 cents of every dollar membership remains in the chapter's treasury to carry on this life saving work in the chapter's districts, while the other 50 cents goes to the national Red Cross to carry on the national work of every sort.

Before introducing Captain Everett Fowler, Mr. Mahar announced that the flag for most memberships had been won for the evening by Ward 2, and it was accordingly transferred from Ward 1 to the winning ward.

Captain Everett Fowler gave the boys and workers one of the plainest and most sensible yet inspiring and encouraging talks they have yet heard, as far as the actual campaign is concerned, the only trouble was that the people present, who showed their interest and their works by being present did not need the talk half as much as did those who were not present. And it does seem strange that the workers this year do not seem to realize the actual need of being present when they are asked to be to turn in their reports. That was one of the things which Captain Fowler mentioned that if, during the period of service, Lieutenant Dittus or Lieutenant Cashin had given the men any order they would have promptly and efficiently, at any cost, obeyed the command of their superior officer. The need for such obedience is right here and now in this campaign. Captain Fowler also made it plain to the service men that they had been asked to do Red Cross work this year, not because we wish to put added burdens upon those who had already given such strenuous and hazardous service, but because for the men who had been "doing this" work while the service men were abroad, to go about again, was an old story in the community. Furthermore the Red Cross campaign managers had felt that the service men would be glad in this way to show their appreciation of and to repay the debt which they owed the Red Cross. He said, that could the more than hundred men whose names are on the tablet in front of the armory speak to the Red Cross workers they would beg of them to pay the debt which they their comrades could not pay.

And Captain Fowler told the workers that one Red Cross membership in a family was not enough. Every member in every family should be asked to join, and urged to do so if necessary. Where the service men saw houses minus a Red Cross service flag they should go to such houses, ask the people if the entire family had joined and if they had a service flag. If they had they should be urged to display the same, or place themselves open to continued calls from other service men. The speaker noted several streets and residences where there were neither no flags to be seen or else flags without any additional stars where there should be. He reminded the men that they had never lost their nerve on the other side, and this was certainly no time to lose their nerve. Neither were they discouraged overseas in the face of the most insurmountable difficulties. They should not be discouraged here and now, but buckle to and put this drive over the top as well as former drives were put over by men and women who had not as good reason as did they to do the job.

Mayor Canfield then also addressed the workers encouraging them and urging them to renewed efforts.

Mr. Mahar announced that there would be another meeting of the workers at the Y. M. C. A. on Monday evening next at 9 o'clock, after which the entire city would be thrown open to every worker to go where he or she pleased to secure memberships where there were none yet secured.

Sea-Island Cotton.

Practically all of the sea-island cotton is produced in the states of Georgia, Florida and South Carolina. The finest coming from the chain of islands off the Carolina coast. It is well learned sea-island cotton as when grown away from the coast the fiber rapidly degenerates into upland cotton unless seed grown in the islands is obtained for planting successive crops.

A quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Vredenburgh at Spruceton, Thursday, November 6, at high noon, when their daughter, Nellie May, became the bride of Marshal Ney Todd of Dry Brook. The ceremony was performed under a large white wedding bell and before an altar of white chrysanthemums. The entire home was decorated with autumn leaves. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Hewitt, pastor of the Arkville M. E. Church. The bride was charming in a gown of fawn colored taffeta and carried a shower bouquet of white roses. The maid of honor was Miss Minerva Todd, sister of the groom, who wore blue silk with georgette crepe. She carried pink rose buds. Martin Vredenburgh, brother of the bride, was best man. Following the ceremony and the receiving of congratulations, a fine collation was served. Mr. and Mrs. Todd then left for Plattsburg, Montreal, Can., and Niagara Falls. Mrs. Wynkoop was always a generous and kind neighbor loved by all who knew her and her demise will be grieved by many. She is survived by seven children, Mrs. Alvin Mertine of New Paltz, Mrs. Asa Beesmier of Olive Bridge, Mrs. Clifton Palen of Kingston, Homer Wynkoop of New Paltz, Asa Wynkoop of Tabasco, Chester and Carrie at home, also one sister and one brother, Mrs. Joseph Van Vliet and Josiah Terwilliger, both of Tabasco, and eleven grandchildren and friends who will mourn her loss.

The funeral of the late Rev. Thomas Cole, who died suddenly on Wednesday, was held in Trinity Episcopal Church, Saugerties, on Friday afternoon. The church was filled to its capacity with friends to pay their tribute of respect to the departed. The burial service was in charge of Archdeacon Pott, the Rev. Thomas L. Cole, rector of Christ Church, Hudson, and the Rev. John W. Craig, a life-long friends of the deceased. Seated in the chancel were a number of visiting clergymen and the Rev. D. M. Hunter, a former pastor of the Reformed Church of Saugerties, and the Rev. J. V. Wemple, present pastor of the Reformed Church, both warm friends of Mr. Cole. Business was suspended during the hours of the funeral and the Business Men's Association, of which Mr. Cole was a member, attended in a body. Prof. Harold Ravenburgh of Hudson officiated at the organ. There was no eulogy, only the impressive Episcopal service for the burial of the dead. The remains were taken to Catskill for interment in the Catskill Cemetery.

The funeral of Richard Nolan, who died at his home, 397 Delaware avenue Tuesday evening, was held from his late residence at 9 o'clock Friday morning and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 o'clock, where a High Mass of Requiem was celebrated for the repose of his soul. The Very Rev. Dean John J. Hickey officiated. The church was filled with relatives and friends. The deceased was a popular resident of the lower section of the city and was held in respect and esteem by all who knew him because of his manly character and good will toward all. He was a devout Christian, a member of St. Mary's Church and of the Holy Name Society of that church. For a number of years he was the janitor of School No. 4, which position he held at the time of his death. The floral tributes completely buried the casket. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, Anna and Laurella, and three sons, Richard and John at home, and Timothy at Weehawken. The bearers were Edward T. McGill, M. J. Connelly, Thomas J. Murray, Richard Murphy, John McAndrew and C. Mathis. Interment was in the family plot at St. Mary's Cemetery, where services were conducted by Dean Hickey.

HIGH SCHOOL WEEKLY NEWS

Since this week was known as Better Speech Week, a special drive was made for the use of better English.

Wednesday morning, Attorney Harry Flemming addressed the High School assembly and told the necessity of the use of good English from the standpoint of law.

Thursday morning, Mrs. Searing, author, and a Kingstonian, gave a very interesting talk and told of her experiences in teaching English to the soldiers. She brought out the fact that nearly a million of our soldiers had such a poor command of the English language that they were unable to interpret the commands of their officers.

Friday afternoon after school a mass meeting was held in the auditorium for the purpose of arousing enthusiasm for the game today. The students were first attracted to the auditorium by the "jazzy" music rendered by the Kingston High School's "A. B. C." jazz orchestra.

"Bill" Smith as chairman of the meeting introduced Postmaster William C. DeWitt, a graduate of old K. A. Mr. DeWitt expressed confidence in the winning ability of the players and realized that whatever the odds were, they would put up a good fight. He emphasized the fact that a great deal depended upon the "rooters" on the side lines. He concluded his appeal by a little talk on the importance of the use of better English, telling how much it helped in business life.

The orchestra furnished a number of fine selections while members of the A. A. went about selling tickets for today's game.

The boys hope to send Albany High back to the capital with a nice defeat as their reward for coming down here.

A new society, supposedly a secret organization, has been formed among the girls of the school. It is known as the G. C. C., but the exact meaning of these letters is undecipherable. The purpose and plans of the society have not been made public but it is expected that they will make them known later.

Latest fashion from Paris

Musketeer capes, suggestive of the gallant days of d'Artagnan, have become the rage in Paris. The pretty French mannequins, who daily display the creations of Paris modistes at the Longechamps race course, wear the capes. Fur and fringes apparently are the two most popular borderings for this latest winter fashion.

A Letter to You.

Mr. Mike Robe.

My Dear Mike:

I was glad to see your name in the list of patrons of the Armistice Ball. I know you don't dance, and that you are going to be out of town on the eleventh, but you are the kind of man that wouldn't make either of these facts an excuse for not helping with the hospital ball.

I hope you have given your check to the lady who sent you the tickets. Don't put it off, as it delays the settlement of accounts to have unpaid tickets out.

How splendidly everybody is coming forward for the good cause! Do you know that we have fifteen patrons from Saugerties? Also four from New York, four from Malden, three from Rifton, three from Albany. Checks have also come from Highland Falls, Esopus, Catskill, Chichester, and London, England. Doesn't that show a remarkable outside interest in our Kingston Hospital?

Do try to be at the Armory on Tuesday night. You can come in your business clothes, it's perfectly all right. And if you know anybody else who wants to give something to the hospital ball, be sure to call me up.

Affectionately your cousin,
LOTTA MUNNY.

The Whale as an Eater.

The whale rarely, if ever, swallows anything larger than a herring. Although the head is of enormous size, from one-quarter to one-third length of the body, and the mouth fifteen to twenty feet long and six to eight feet wide, the opening of the gullet is not larger than a man's fist.

Especially the Goat.

"What is your pet peeve?" "My wife's goat."

Message scratched on wing of plane by Lieut. Waterhouse

© INTERNATIONAL

This photograph shows the ill fated airplane, beside which Lieutenants Cecil Connolly and Frederick Waterhouse remained seventeen days without food and on the fuselage of which they scratched their farewell messages to their mothers and their commanding officer. The machine is shown on the spot at which it landed at Guadaloupe Bay. Note the wings stripped of their covering by Mexican vandals. The two aviators were slain by Mexican fishermen. Their bodies were recovered in the sands of the beach several miles from the wrecked airplane by a searching party from the U. S. S. Aarab Watch, an American destroyer. The messages scratched on the wings of the plane by the aviators disclose one of the saddest tragedies in the history of the American Air Service.

One of the most impressive meetings held this year was the gathering last night of the members of the O. E. S. and Master Masons. The occasion was past matrons' night. The following past matrons as officers were: Kate Eastman, worthy matron, Harry Tremper, worthy patron; Mary Kent Comstock, associate matron. Margaret A. Johnson, treasurer. Nellie Clarke Klothe, secretary; Phoebe Roosa, marshal, Ida Newland, historian. Mary McCullough assistant conductor. Elizabeth Terwilliger, conductor. Eva Parish, Edith Van Wagonen, Margaret Bishop, Eleanore Y. Schryver, Irene S. Holstein, Edith Potter, chaplain. It seemed good to see the familiar faces again active. Courtesies of the east were extended the Worthy Matron Sadie O. Shultis, Past Worthy Patron Oscar L. Eastman, P. A. G. L. Alice K. Norwood, Worthy Matron George K. Colden, Worthy Patron of Clinton Chapter, also Minnie E. Bisely, P. D. D. G. M., were escorted to the east. Nellie C. Klothe, right worthy district deputy grand matron of the eleventh Eastern Star district was escorted to the east and introduced. On behalf of the chapter Mary Kent Comstock presented the little deputy with a beautiful bouquet of chrysanthemums with best wishes for a happy and successful year, to which Sister Klothe responded very fittingly. The Star Degree was then conferred. That the Chapter is very progressive speaks for those who were present, the keen interest shown by the present officers under the leadership of W. M. Sadie O. Shultis and Dr. John R. Gillett, W. P. After the ceremonies the large assembly were seated around several long tables and partook of a most enjoyable repast. Those who were present will long remember the meeting as a most enjoyable one. Visitors and officers from Clinton Chapter, 445, were present.

The miner and his family are typical of the thousands affected by the nation-wide strike which threatens to tie up the industries of the country.

Joe Stecher.

Joe Stecher, the Nebraskan boy, employing his famed combination hold, the body scissors and the arm lock, pinned the burly shoulders of "Strangler" Ed Lewis to the mat in a contest for the heavyweight wrestling championship of the world, recently held at Madison Square Garden, New York. After one hour and a half of furious pulling Stecher applied his scissors for the first time in the bout and slowly crushed Lewis to the mat. Joe's victory over Lewis, who outweighed him by close to fifty pounds, was extremely popular with the thousands who packed the famous arena. It was reported after the bout that Lewis will shortly announce his retirement from the game.

Lester Foote, mail messenger on the route between the Port Ewen post office and the West Shore depot, has resigned as messenger to take effect when the time limit of 45 days expires Since Mrs. Hutchings met with her dreadful accident, January 24, there have been two mail messengers on the route. The main reason for giving up this route is it does not pay and the government simply will not pay a fair price but gouges applicants down to the lowest figure It is high time some of our official men in this village arouse from their lethargy and inform the government that route is underpaid way below a nominal sum and see if they cannot impress upon the authorities that whoever is on this route by any manner of means meet their expenses not even making a living as four trips a day breaks the day entirely and a man cannot do anything else in the hours between worth while With a woman it was different She could do her household duties and that is counted by a great many as nothing. Gentlemen officially, this needs your immediate attention

ROLL CALL WILL SUPPORT GREAT HOME PROGRAM

American Red Cross, Besides Serving in Disasters, Will Conduct National Movement for Health Betterment

The American Red Cross has announced for the week of November 2 to 11, a nation-wide campaign to be known as the Third Red Cross Roll Call This membership campaign is for the support of the future home activities of the Red Cross

Rapid-Fire Relief

As a comrade in-arms to the American soldier, following him and often preceding him into the thick of battle, and on all occasions typifying the loving care and solicitude of the folks at home the Red Cross won the gratitude of every fighting unit that went into action With the Twenty-Seventh and Seventy-Seventh Divisions the Red Cross representatives distinguished themselves for the performance of rapid fire relief measures which saved the lives of hundreds of the fighters in both New York Divisions These services were typical also of the services to other American Divisions

Major-General John F. O'Ryan, commander of the Twenty-Seventh Division, signified his gratitude for these services by volunteering to do all in his power to aid the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross in the approaching campaign, and will serve as chairman of the third Red Cross Roll Call in the Atlantic Division Col Charles W Whittlesey, of the Seventy-Seventh Division's "Lost Battalion." Brigadier General George R Dyer, commander of the First Brigade of the New York State Guard, and many other military leaders and service men have enlisted under the Red Cross banner, as a token of their appreciation for services rendered

Why the Red Cross Must Go On

The war is over, but the work of the American Red Cross is far from ended Its gigantic organization for relief and human betterment today faces tasks even more momentous than those it faced and solved during the days of the war. In the disorganized and plague stricken countries of Eastern Europe,—in Poland Siberia, and the Near East—it is combatting fearful epidemics of typhoid and cholera which, unchecked would sweep over Western Europe and eventually to America with more disastrous results than those of the Influenza Epidemic of 1918 Its program of relief cannot be abandoned in those countries without removing the one bulwark against disease and disorder which protects the rest of the civilized world

The Red Cross has other obligations in Europe which make it not only humane, but economically imperative, that its program be carried through to successful completion

Supplies of the American Army abroad have been turned over to the Red Cross for administration and disposal.

The proper utilization of these supplies for humanitarian purposes makes it necessary that the Red Cross keep some of its forces in Europe for a long time to come Another duty to be performed is the establishment of schools to train native workers in the war-stricken countries in American standards of sanitation and social work. Unless this vital measure is accomplished the value of much that has been done for the relief of Europe will be lost.

Peace Program at Home

In addition to these European obligations, the Red Cross is laying the foundation for a great Peace Program at home. It is applying the lessons learned in war to the problems of peace, and will be the great teacher of public health, sanitation care of the child, first aid and home hygiene in all the communities of the United States where well-organized social agencies do not exist.

Already the Red Cross has organized, in hundreds of rural districts and city slums, its classes in Public Health Nursing, where wives and mothers, school children and industrial workers are being taught the simple principles of health and sanitation

The Red Cross must go on. It must carry on in Europe until the obligations of the American people are fulfilled; it must carry on at home as an auxiliary to the Army and Navy of the United States, as the care-taker of our wounded and disabled soldiers, as a disaster relief organization to bring relief in fires, floods and epidemics, and as the one great unifying, cooperative agency in the field of public health.

American Aid Saves Monks

ARCHANGEL.—American aid has saved a hundred monks of the famous Solovetsky Monastery in Northern Russia from much suffering, according to a letter received from the Prior by Major D O. Lively, Red Cross man of San Francisco, who sent food to the monastery

Special Meeting! American Legion, at The Armory Sunday at 2 P. M.

"Carpet-Bagger."

It is said that the term "carpet-bagger" was first applied to political adventurers in America. It was designed to describe a needy political adventurer who wanders over the country pandering to the prejudices of the ignorant in order to try to get into office. He was so called because he was reported as having only enough property to fill a carpet bag.

The Egyptian Barber.

The ordinary village barber of Egypt bears a certain resemblance in so far as his profession goes, to the barber-surgeon of ancient times in England. He is authorized by law, after having passed an examination, to perform vaccination, application of leeches, cupping, simple dressings, but is forbidden to order or prescribe medicines.

The Colonel is receiving double congratulations from his host of friends, for besides winning his first political fight Mrs. Roosevelt presented him with a bouncing seven-pound boy, a fourth child. When notified of his election, the Colonel declared: "Great! Bully! It is a big day for my family. He's a fine boy. Mrs. Roosevelt is doing well, and I have been elected from my home district to the Assembly." The baby will be christened Quentin after his aviator uncle, who was killed in France.
